

Havneprojektet

An aerial photograph of a harbor filled with numerous small, colorful boats moored in neat rows. The water is dark, and the boats are densely packed, creating a vibrant pattern of colors. Two larger boats are visible in the foreground, near a pier.

An aerial photograph of a coastal area, likely Havnespidsen. The image is split vertically. The left side shows a marina with several sailboats docked and a row of houses with red roofs along the water's edge. The right side shows a larger residential area with many houses and buildings, some with red roofs, and a parking lot. The water is dark blue, and the sky is light blue. The title 'Havnespidsen' is overlaid on the left side.
